Course Description

Drivers Education Health 201 is a nine-week course, offered during a student's sophomore year. This thirty-hour course meets New Jersey Motor Vehicle Commission's training course criteria, and focuses on key points of safe and defensive driving. Emphasis is placed on the effects that attitude, behavior and responsibility have on both driving safety and privilege, with special attention to speeding, the distracted driver and driving under the influence. Understanding of driving techniques, rules and regulations are also explored.

Students are given information in the following areas: drug-alcohol education and organ donation.

Students use computer applications to gather and organize information. Within all content areas, students should utilize computer and information literacy, which supports competency in information-gathering, information-organizing and problem solving.

Student achievement is determined by subjective and objective evaluation procedures including, but not limited to, class participation, practical demonstrations, written quizzes and examinations. At the conclusion of this course, students are given the New Jersey Division of Motor Vehicle Knowledge test, requiring a passing score of at least 80%.
