LaRue	Deanne	Grading for Equity	8/2-4/2022	Virtual	Invited by equity grading committee Schools across New Jersey are relooking at equitable practices within their systems to ensure that all learners are treated fairly, respectfully, and with the empathy they deserve. Creating such a system requires a commitment to enhancing the culture of the school and district by understanding how our own biases, assumptions, & perspectives hinder or empower student success. This session will assist participants in: Defining culturally responsive practices; Uncovering and removing barriers and challenges to equity within the system; Understanding how to identify and implement the strategies that nurture, respect, and value the needs of all children and the broader community; and Connecting SEL to culturally responsive practices and pedagogy to empower student success.	950	08-23-2022
